“Manufacturing Gender Inequality in the New Economy: High School Training for Work in Blue-Collar Communities”

By

April Sutton, Ph.D.

April Sutton is a Frank H. T. Rhodes Postdoctoral Fellow
Cornell Population Center
Cornell University
Ithaca, New York

Friday, April 15, 2016
3:30 pm

Business Administration Building, Room B-29
University at Albany – Main Campus

Broadly, her research areas of interest are education, social stratification and mobility, and life course transitions. The underlying objective of her work across these core areas is to investigate the circumstances under which schools and communities widen or narrow educational and labor force inequalities. She focuses on racial/ethnic, gender, and spatial dimensions of inequality during critical life transitions from adolescence through early adulthood.

http://www.human.cornell.edu/bio.cfm?netid=as3467

Light Refreshments will be served