Dr. Elena Vesselinov is Associate Professor of Sociology at Queens College and the Graduate Center, City University of New York. A 2004 Ph.D. from the University at Albany, Vesselinov studies housing in Europe and in the U.S. Her most recent research projects, funded by NIH and NSF, have explored the links between segregation and gated communities and the impact of the mortgage crisis on homeownership. She is the 2008 and 2010 recipient of a certificate of recognition for outstanding scholarly achievement from the City University of New York. She is currently working on a monograph about gated communities in the United States, forthcoming with NYU Press.
