

Center for Social and Demographic Analysis and
Lewis Mumford Center

COLLOQUIUM

“Marriage and Public Policy: Union Formation among Low-Income Women”

by

Daniel Lichter

Ferris Family Professor of Life Course Studies
Professor of Policy Analysis and Management
Director of the Bronfenbrenner Life Course Center
Cornell University

Friday, January 26, 2007 at 3:30 pm
Humanities HU 354
University at Albany

Much of Professor Lichter’s work has focused on poverty, especially among children and in rural areas. He has written numerous articles and chapters about poverty, children and marriage, including the effects of welfare incentives on the family, on patterns of marriage and cohabitation, and children’s changing living arrangements. His recent work has also examined the “new destinations” of immigrants to America.

(Reception immediately following presentation!)